1. OxYGen Foundation

OxYGen Foundation for Protection of Youth and Women Rights (OxYGen) is an independent advocacy and development foundation driven by its vision of an Armenia free of poverty and suffering, in which women and men can exercise their rights and influence decisions that impact their lives.

OxYGen is implementing its program interventions based on its 5-year strategy in line with its strategic priorities: Gender Equality, Youth Empowerment, Accountable Governance, Economic Justice, and Resilience Building and Humanitarian assistance.

2. The Project EQUAL

EQUAL – EU 4 Women Empowerment in Armenia project is funded by the EU (referred to as EQUAL).

The project “EQUAL - EU 4 Women Empowerment in Armenia” aims to elevate and empower women in Armenia to bring about societal change across the country. To do so, EQUAL provides women with support to exercise their political, economic and socio-cultural rights, targeting specifically those from vulnerable and disadvantaged groups. EQUAL adopts a cross-cutting approach to tackling women's issues that are often pushed to the margins of policymaking, including human trafficking, sexual and reproductive education, harassment in the workplace, or the impact of gender norms in social groups.

One of the main pillars of EQUAL supports public information campaigns on shifting stereotypes and perceptions hindering women empowerment, notably through capacitating local organizations into doing so – with financial and technical support.

Objectives of the project EQUAL

Overall objective: State and non-state actors take meaningful actions to address and prevent all forms of gender-based violence and discrimination and contribute to gender equality in Armenia for women, men, girls, and boys in all their diversity.

Strategic objective: strengthen their resilience and ability to take meaningful action to address and prevent all forms of gender-based violence and discrimination in Armenia.

Main components of the project EQUAL: Freedom from Gender-based violence and discrimination in Armenia.

The project EQUAL implies the subgrant component via financial support to third parties (FSTP). This particular subgrant and the following ones, all together will allow involvement of NGOs working with women and girls facing multiple forms of discrimination and violence, as well as safeguard their meaningful participation with their priority interventions and solutions to detected issues through awarding-supported interventions.

3. The Proposal

The current Call for Proposal is envisaged within the project EQUAL – EU 4 Women Empowerment in Armenia.

According to 2024 Global Gender Gap Report, Armenia occupies the 64th place out of 146.

Gender equality is not just a women's issue; it benefits society as a whole, including men, in more gender-equal societies demonstrating stronger economies, better health outcomes, better resilience and lower rates of violence.

Excluding men from gender equality efforts reinforces division, while inclusion leads to collective action, making gender-sensitive policies and practices more sustainable.

GBV remains a pervasive challenge in Armenia, with deep-rooted gender norms and societal expectations contributing to unequal power dynamics and discrimination. While efforts to prevent GBV and promote gender equality have primarily focused on women's empowerment, there is a growing recognition that engaging men and boys is essential for meaningful and sustainable change.

Traditional norms of masculinity often reinforce behaviors that tolerate violence, limit men's emotional expression, and discourage their involvement in caregiving and gender equality efforts. These norms not only harm women but also restrict men's ability to build healthy relationships and fully participate in family and community life.

Men's involvement in the prevention of gender-based violence is crucial. Programs that engage men in challenging toxic masculinity and promoting respectful relationships can make notable behavioral shifts. Besides, many traditional and cultural gender norms harm not only women but men as well, pressuring them to conform to rigid roles. Engaging men can be helpful in creating a positive image of masculinity and men's role that will be beneficial for everyone in the society.

The proposal under FSTP11 is to be developed around the following:

This call invites CSOs to develop innovative programs that actively engage men and boys in challenging harmful gender norms, preventing GBV, and promoting responsible fatherhood and gender-equitable behaviors in communities and workplaces.

Goal: To foster gender equality and prevent gender-based violence by actively engaging men and boys as allies in transforming harmful gender norms and promoting positive masculinities.

Objective 1: To engage men as allies in preventing GBV and advancing gender equality within their communities and workplaces.

Objective 2: To promote positive masculinities by engaging men and boys in addressing harmful gender norms and stereotypes.
